

The butler, together with all the sufferers, go to the butcher to have the dog made into mince meat. The butcher lays the dog upon the block and severs the head with one stroke of a big axe. He then puts the body in a sausage machine and makes Wiener Wurscht out of the dog. The butler then goes home and reports to his master that the dog is killed, this time for good, but hardly had he finished when the dog came back.

The sufferers not knowing that the dog has come back, came to get some compensation for their torn clothes. Just then a little boy is begging for the dog. The master, glad to get rid of the dog, presents him to the little boy.

LENGTH, 600 FEET

PRICE $60.00

COPYRIGHT 1907 S. LUBIN

COPYRIGHT 1907

THE NEW

APPRENTICE

S. LUBIN

LARGEST MANUFACTURER OF

FILMS, SLIDES, STEREOPTICON AND
LIFE MOTION PICTURE MACHINES

19-21 SOUTH EIGHTH STREET,
PHILADELPHIA, PA., U.S.A.

L. 19

THE NEW APPRENTICE

Length 530 Feet

COPYRIGHT 1927

Price $58.30

Mike wants to go to work. Seeing a sign, "Boy Wanted," before a grocery store, he applies for the position and is accepted. The boss shows him how to sell and Mike says he can do it. The boss leaves the store. Customers come and purchase goods. But, oh my, the trick Mike plays on them.

A man wants snuff—he gets red pepper. Another one wants cigars—he gets dynamite. A fellow wants oranges—he gets a big lemon in from off a live crab, and so forth.

As soon as the customers found out the tricks played out on them, they return to the store. Mike prefers to go out, the customers after him. Such funny chases Mike makes good his escape and now the grocer gets it in good style. An exceedingly funny film.

COPYRIGHT 1927

When Women

VOTE

A Regular Wrinkle Wrecker and a Sure Winner

S. LUBIN

LARGEST MANUFACTURER OF

FILMS, SLIDES, STEREOPTICON AND
LIFE MOTION PICTURE MACHINES

21-23 South Eighth St., Philadelphia, Pa., U. S. A.